Year-end Funds

1. In response to referenced memorandum, CCISCMO submits the following initiatives for consideration as "add-ons" to existing contracts.

2. Project Slammer, which involves psychological appraisals of convicted espionage subjects with a view toward strengthening our internal defense against subversion and espionage, was formerly funded by the IC Staff and is now funded by CIA. Project Slammer needs a TV monitor and VHS editor, which will assist in conducting and reviewing the interviews of Slammer subjects. The estimated cost of purchase is approximately $3,000. The Slammer project is really a Community effort involving various CI agencies, including FBI, CIA, and Air Force OSI, and would be an appropriate recipient of Community funds. Funding the recommended purchase would probably involve a transfer of funds to either CIA, Office of Security, or Air Force OSI, which has the lead on the project.
